

RUSS FLEET HAMMERS AT BOSPHORUS

BALTIC SEA ACTIVITY

Petrograd Claims Several German Units Have Been Damaged in Recent Operations.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
London, March 29.—Russia is again today knocking at the back door of Constantinople by bombarding the Turkish forts on the Bosphorus.

Turkish toris on the Bosphorus, but with what success is not yet definitely known. As to the front door of the Turkish capital, the Dardanelles, the only news is the monotonous reiteration of the report that the min sweepers of the allies are continuing their work and that weather conditions still prevent resumption of the bombardment by the fleet.

Claim Weather is Good.
Constantinople, however, declines to accept the weather as an excuse for a lull in attacks, and claims that since March 18 weather conditions have been good. Unofficial reports from neutral points in the vicinity of the scene of operations, indicate an early resumption of activity; they set forth that a long distance shelling of the harbor defenses has been commenced by batteries.

Activity in Baltic.
Reviewing Russian naval activities in the Baltic, Petrograd claims the operations on this sea of the Russian warships have resulted in damage to several German units and that Germans have been compelled materially to restrict their movements.

Reuter's correspondent at Petrograd telegraphs that the Russian fleet in the Baltic has been reinforced by the addition of modern fighting units. This addition to the fleet, it is believed in London, consists of four readaughts laid down in the Russian yards in 1909, which were nearing completion at the beginning of the war. It may also include a further division of four capital ships laid down in 1912. The British naval experts said they would not be surprised to learn that with the assistance of the Russian material men, Russia had been able to complete these eight readaughts. The first four mount 12-12 inch guns each. The second division is armed with 9 14-inches

Speculation on Balkans
From a diplomatic standpoint observers in London are speculating hopefully on the reorganization of the Balkan league; but nevertheless it is thought the visit of Field Marshal Von Goltz until recently at Constantinople, may check the reconciliation of this state with her neighbors.

Paris, March 29.—The French battleships Suffren and Gaulois which were badly damaged by the fire from the Turkish batteries in the bombardment of the Dardanelles ports by the allied fleet on March 18 have left for Toulon, a French naval base, to be repaired in dry dock there according to special dispatch from Athens.

No attack was made in the strait Sunday, the dispatch says, but a Franco-British fleet and the Russian cruiser Askold, bombarded the Bulgar line of forts from the Gulf of Varna.

FOOTVILLE FACTORY INCLUDED IN CRASH OF VALECIA COMPANY

Creditors of Condensed Milk Concern Begin Bankruptcy Proceedings in Federal Court.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Madison, Wis., March 29.—The Valecia Condensed Milk company, operating plants at Middleton, near here, Footville and Hillsboro, and having factories under construction at Reedsburg and Belleville, is the object of bankruptcy proceedings begun by creditors. Hundreds of farmers who took stock are involved in the company's troubles. A receiver will be appointed in federal court here to liquidate the company's assets. A string of eight conservatorships in Wisconsin and neighboring states. The petitioning creditors are both local and foreign.

A meeting of a number of the largest creditors of the company and several of the largest stockholders who had invested in the stock of the Valecia Condensed Milk company, was recently held in Madison and a creditors' committee composed of farmers, a banker, president of the Bank of Middleton, H. J. Robbins, credit man for Fairbanks-Morse company of Chicago, and R. W. Jackson of Madison, was appointed in conjunction with the officers of the milk concern. Efforts were made by this committee to ascertain accurately the situation existing and the best method of procedure under the circumstances.

Al. A. Fee of Footville, formerly president of the company, has resigned, and E. A. Siefert of Reedsburg, who is named in his place. O. W. Sherman of Madison is vice-president and C. F. Christensen in secretary.

A report of the creditors' committee states that there is a plant at Reedsburg which is partially completed, one at Hillsboro which is under construction, a plant at Belleville which has the foundation in, and two plants in Kansas on which very little work has been done. The factories at Reedsburg and Hillsboro are completed, it is proposed, in order that the company may realize upon the investment.

The creditors' committee reports that it would attempt to keep the company's organization together and see that the plants were operated so far as possible.

The club today is acknowledged to be the largest in the General Federation of Women's Clubs, having at its primary object for study and advancement. Mrs. Steele has long been interested in club work. When a resident of Janesville, she took an interest in club work, while Mr. Steele was proprietor of "The Magnet," a store that was located where the Pappas Candy store now is.

DISCOVERS REMAINS OF INDIAN VILLAGE

George A. West President of State Archaeological Society Makes Interesting Find in North Carolina.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Madison, Wis., March 29.—Geo. A. West, president of the Wisconsin Archaeological Society, discovered the remains of an ancient Indian village of 30,000 population on a slope of the Blue Ridge mountains while on a recent visit to Tyron, N. C. He has brought with him to this home in this city a large collection of pottery and various utensils of great value from the standpoint of historic art.

The discovery was made near the Mimosa hotel on land owned by Mrs. Charles Erskine of Racine, who has published many novels, material for her books was obtained in the south. Unsuspecting negroes had plowed up the site of the village for years and at the time of the discovery it was planted to corn.

"After considerable research I learned that the village was the home of a tribe of Cherokee Indians who fought with the British during the Revolutionary war. I found on the site the old mounds made in shaping the bullets they employed in their long war against the white settlers, lasting from 1759 to 1780.

"I noticed that the negroes in plowing turned up great quantities of broken pottery," said West. "I asked them where this material came from originally, but they only shook their heads. Then I began an investigation among the farmers. No one remembered even having heard of a habitation of any kind on the site. When I examined the pottery I found it was unmistakably of Indian design."

JOHN DOE HEARING IS HELD BY COURT

Take Testimony of Frank Hutchins in Regard to the Disappearance of His Son, Leonard.

Frank Hutchins, who resides near Milton, was called to the stand before Judge H. L. Maxfield this morning in a John Doe examination conducted by District Attorney S. G. Dunwiddie to learn what he knew of the disappearance of his son, Leonard Hutchins. Early in January the nineteen year old youth was sentenced by Judge Maxfield to a one year suspended sentence under the state board of control for the theft of several bundles of tobacco from Charles A. Wright.

After being paroled out to Rev. G. E. Parlane and placed at work by the state field officers, Hutchins disappeared shortly before the incendiary fire at the Wright farm and has not been seen by any of his relatives. Although it is known, since that time, that he has been in the vicinity of the Wright farm, agents have investigated throughout the state, but no trace of him has been found. With Hutchins, having her home at Whitewater, Mrs. Hutchins gave reasons to the state officers that the father knew where and why the son left home and there was some talk of foul play.

Hutchins was summoned before the municipal court and placed under oath. According to the testimony before the Wright on the Thursday before the fire, the purpose of visiting his mother in Whitewater. When he did not return on Saturday the father, the evidence showed, went to the Whitewater on the following Monday and learned that his son had not been in Whitewater on any day of the week-end. It was testified that he stormed on Saturday and the father was not anxious about his son's return. Hutchins declared he had given his son his share of the tobacco amounting to over $200, a short time before he disappeared.

The father claims to have received a card from his son, about six weeks ago, but did not remember the postmark or the full contents. He was ordered to produce the card to the court. Another Milton farmer will be put under oath later in the week by District Attorney Dunwiddie as Mrs. Hutchins received information that this man had something of the boy's whereabouts.

DEMAND FOR SUGAR TO OPEN FACTORIES

Result of War on Sugar Industry May Revive Beet Growing in Southern Wisconsin.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Milwaukee, Wis., March 29.—The high price of sugar, consequent on the European war, will result in a marked increase in the production of sugar beets in Wisconsin. Refusal of European countries to export sugar to American farmers to make up the shortage in the world market is expected that fully 6,000 Wisconsin farmers will plant a large acreage to sugar beets this season. Menominee Falls, Chippewa Falls and Madison have announced that these plants will run, and it is believed that a similar announcement will be made soon regarding the plant in Janesville. The average Wisconsin farmer devotes three acres to beets and each factory can handle the crop from 6,000 acres. This means that 2,000 farmers must be signed in territory tributary to each factory. The average factory is 11 tons to the acre and the average price is $5.50 a ton, delivered at the shipping point. Agents of the companies are already drawing up contracts with the farmers.

The planting season opens the first of May and the factories begin operation about October 1. They generally run in operation three months. Each of the Wisconsin factories sends an outfit of $750,000 for building and equipment.

The price of sugar will undoubtedly remain high because of the refusal of European countries to export it," said Richard G. Wagner of the Wisconsin Sugar company, who has just returned from an investigation of conditions in Holland, Denmark, Germany, Switzerland and Italy. "Germany won't ship out any sugar although the country has a sufficient supply to last two years. The aim, I think, is to plant the sugar ground to other products. So long as these conditions exist beet raisers are assured a price at least as high as was paid in former years.

because they are a good rotation crop. They have roots which reach down much farther than the usual crop and these roots, broken off in plowing, form a humus that greatly enriches the soil."

The moment of most genuine dramatic power and suspense in George Kleins' truly wonderful photo-drama "Quo Vadis" which is to be presented at the Myers Theatre Wednesday, March 31, for matinee and evening, commencing at 7:30, 7:00 and 9:00, occurs in the third act or seventh reel, when the Christians are about to be sacrificed for their alleged crime of the burning of Rome.

The scene shows the arena of the famous Coliseum—on all sides are the great tiers of seats filled with the patricians and citizens of Rome out for a holiday, eager to witness the chariot races, the gladiator combats, the torture of the Christians and other features devised by the heart of Nero for their pleasure sport. In the foreground is a vast outside of the arena frame of the picture. Far on the little group of Christians kneel upon the sands, praying and stricken with terror. The soldiers who have driven them into the arena from their cells move off to places of safety. Nero leans over the high balustrade of the Imperial box gazing at their suffering.

Then the trap door begins to rise. Everyone knows what is about to happen. The first lion who slips out of the opening is no surprise, yet there is a thrill that passes over the audience, and the suspense and the moment is full of suspense. More lions follow, many lions, all lean and hungry looking brutes.

The scene shifts to a close view of the kneeling Christians. The women clasp their children to their breasts and raise their eyes in supplication to Heaven. The lions approach them, coming in the spectacle and urge the beasts to lose no detail. Petronius, the arbiter of fashion, looks in helpless disgust at the Christians. Vindex swells in trembling fear the fate of his beloved Lygia; the treacherous Chilo revolts at the outcome of his will; and the faints at the sight, and the thousands of citizens and nobles look on with bated breath. No drama in the world ever comprehended such intense dramatic moments yet it all lifts the veil of doubt from the eyes of this later generation why "Eternal Rome" fell.

The U. S. Navy Up-To-The-Minute. Most of us are so much absorbed in our own environment and vocation that we have put the faintest conception of activities in other spheres such as, for instance, naval life. Our daily lives are so far removed from the decks of dreadnaughts and the stupendous battles that Lyman H. Howe's reproduction of the U. S. Navy of 1915 at the Myers Theatre, Friday, April 9, and Saturday, April 10, comes as an illuminating revelation. It was secured by authority of the Secretary of the Navy, Josephus Daniels, and with the hearty co-operation of the commanders and officers of our navy. How thorough and searching this reproduction is, we will be realized from the fact that Mr. Howe's photographers devoted two years to the task.

Considering that congress spends hundreds of millions each year on our navy, and that every American citizen pays more or less of this vast expenditure, the secretary of the navy selected Mr. Howe's Travel Festival as the most popular and valuable medium to share with American public how and for what purpose this money is invested. Hardly one person in ten has even a superficial knowledge of what is meant by "Our New Navy," but the scenes presented by Mr. Howe comprehend so much of every phase of naval life, and at such close range, that every spectator cannot fail to derive from it a vast fund of information which could not possibly be gleaned in any other way. In every sense it is the most complete production of the naval fighting forces of a nation that has ever been attempted.

"Ship-shape" as a synonym for perfect order and neatness is used so commonly that its origin has probably never occurred to you, but when you see in this same service navy blue jackets aboard ship are required to keep their uniforms, stow their bags, and wash their hammocks, as well as their other routine duties and requirements, you can really understand what "ship-shape" means in its fullest sense.

Among the wild tribes of the Philippines "Islands" is another of the exclusive features to be shown. It includes typical views of all the more important wild tribes and their manners, customs, and peculiarities, etc., among which are the customary attendant upon head-hunting. It took a great deal of courage for the camera man to go alone among the wildly excited savages to photograph some of these scenes, also, the extraordinary head-hunting scene here depicted were the last of the kind enacted. In striking contrast to head-hunting the film also shows the peaceful methods of enlightening and uplifting an alien and barbaric race.

As an unique and illuminating example of "doing things" in the most systematic, ingenious and efficient manner, the program will also show how a National cash register is made at the most "up-to-the-minute" manufacturing plant in America. Here theory is put into practice in a manner that is of absorbing interest.

Doctors Live Long.

Doctors are notoriously their own most disobedient patients. Usually they eat and sleep irregularly, they are out in all kinds of weather, and they hesitate at no danger of contagion or infection; yet of the 2,205 physicians who died in the United States last year, 214 were more than eighty years old, and 21 of them more than ninety. The average age was about sixty-one years. Probably doctors dose themselves less than other people do. Youth's Companion.

REFORMING PIKETOWN

By MAY CUNNINGHAM COBB.

(Copyright, 1914, by W. G. Chapman.)

"You want to know the way to Grange Manor, ma'am? It used to lay over yonder, but Grange Manor ain't on the map no more. It's Piketown now, same as it used to be. Set down while I draw you a glass of milk, and I'll explain."

"You remember Mrs. Tufton, you say? Well, she ain't here no more, neither. And it's all because of Uncle Josh Pickering, what put down the haughty and exalted them of low degree."

"You remember Josh Pickering, who struck off in California and come back to the old homestead with twenty millions? And his niece, Polly, who'd been engaged to Sam Higginson, the undertaker, until her uncle come home rich? Well, that's the start of it."

"Mrs. Tufton and a lot of them rich New York grafters got hold of Uncle Josh and decided to run his affairs for him."

"Josh fell for Mrs. Tufton's game at first till he caught on it was his money she was after. First thing, she transferred Piketown into Grange Manor. She got Uncle Josh to build a country seat. He had English butlers with calves—I mean leg calves—and footmen, and a feudal castle arose on the site of the old homestead. You'll see it when you get over the brow, but the butlers and footmen is gone."

"Next thing was a pack of hounds. Soon all Piketown got wise to the game. Mrs. Tufton expected the young fellows to touch their caps when she went riding by, and the girls to curtsy."

"Well, sir, the climax began when Joe Edson shot a pecky fox what had been prowling round his poultry. Mrs. Tufton heard of it and come riding up to him."

"How dare you shoot foxes?" she began, viciously. "Don't you know they're meant for hunting. In England you'd be shot for doing that!"

"Joe was so scared he forgot to touch his forelock, same as Mrs. Tufton wanted. But about this time Uncle Josh woke up. He hadn't minded the feudal castle, if Polly wanted one, but he got lonesome smoking the long cigars she made him use, and he couldn't chaw nowhere, except in the stable, and even then the English coachman objected. So he used to sneak round to Joe Edson's place nights and set and chaw and smoke his clay pipe with him."

"Joe," he'd say, "things is going from bad to worse. That Mrs. Tufton is a-running my place and spoiling my gal, and I'm pretty well through with it. What would you advise?"

"Between them they hatched up a scheme. They formed the 'Give 'Em What They Want' club. And that's how we got Manor Grange back to plain Piketown."

"Next time the hounds met half the village was at the meet, a-bobbing and a-courtesying as Mrs. Tufton and her followers swept past. Mrs. Tufton looked a little worried; I guess she had begun to catch on to the game, though she didn't know it was Uncle Josh had set it."

"After that, whenever Mrs. Tufton appeared in the village the girls and young fellows would stand at the doors, bobbing and scraping at her. We were giving her what she wanted. But that wasn't enough. Joe Edson had an idea which he set before Uncle Josh."

"What they haven't got, but wants, is an aristocracy," he said. "Can't we rake up a few dukes and earls in Piketown, Josh?"

"That idea seemed good, and at the next meeting of the club titles was bestowed. Uncle Josh couldn't take none, being a sort of traitor from Mrs. Tufton's camp, but Joe Edson made himself the duke of Chicksen Hollow. Jim Bates, the liverman, was christened an earl, and hung out a shield with a horse rampant on it. Tom Biggar, the saloon man, became the Viscount Schooneruds, and we gave Sam Higginson a title also."

"Then the fun began fast and quick. Next time the hunt met there was our aristocracy at the meet, wearing crowns, which Bill Smith, the blacksmith, had made out of old horseshoes, and had gilded for us. When Mrs. Tufton saw what was happening she turned pale."

"Jim Bates steps forward, gallant-like, with a bow, and holds her stirrup. 'What do you mean, you insolent fellow?' screams Mrs. Tufton. 'Jim Bates takes off his crown and bows with dignity. 'May it please your ladyship, I'm the earl of Heavens,' he answers."

"Mrs. Tufton stares about her. The duke of Chicksen Hollow was on one knee trying not to let on his rheumatism was paining him, and Viscount Schooneruds was holding out a frothing beaker of beer, which he got from the ten-cent store and filled."

"That was when Mrs. Tufton really faltered, and she come to in Sam's arms just in time to hear Polly say: 'I guess I've been some sort of fool, Sam, but if you're of a forgiving nature—'

"Sam was forgiving all right."

Make the guest room a rest room!

What a great satisfaction it is to the family to know that its guests, whether for a week or an hour's visit, are sure to feel cordially comfortable—that the guest room is a rest room—all through the presence of an AMERICAN Radiator, instant ready, at the turn of a valve, to make one feel at perfect ease—snugly cozy. If, instead, old-fashioned heating compels huddling together in one or two of the seven rooms of your house, you are getting the use of only two-sevenths of what your house cost—inhabitable and a poor investment!

AMERICAN &amp; IDEAL RADIATORS &amp; BOILERS

IDEAL Boilers and AMERICAN Radiators are just plain common-sense outfits built to fill the demand for reliable comfort, health protection, fuel economy, easiest care-taking, safety, and will last 50 years or more—guaranteeing benefits and economies to the end of your days.

With this radiator heating none of the vital element is taken from the air—no injurious coal-gases, ash-dust or red-hot heating surfaces to menace the health, injure the furnishings, or create a fire risk. Besides the cleanly radiator heating saves immensely in women's housework.

A No. 21 IDEAL Boiler and 240 ft. of 3/4 in. AMERICAN Radiators, costing the owner $130, were used to heat water here this winter. At this price the goods can be bought of any reputable, competent fitter. This did not include cost of labor, pipes, valves, weight, etc., which vary according to climatic and other conditions.

A genuine, practical, built-in Vacuum Cleaner—at $150 We also make the ARCO WAND Vacuum Cleaner, connected by an iron suction pipe to various floors of houses, flats, schools, churches, hotels, etc. Through a light-weight hose ALL the dirt, cobwebs, lint, threads, moths, etc., are drawn with lightning rapidity down the iron piping into big, sealed dust-buckets in cellar. No dragging around a clumsy, inefficient portable cleaner—instead, you have a practical outfit that is a part of the building—like radiator heating. Ask for catalog (free).

were, and at no time has the press shown a responsibility thrust upon it as at the present moment. There are two reasons for this. First, because its influence has never been greater than it is today; and second, because of the tremendous political upheaval, which has brought all the nations of the world into actual or indirect collision with one another.

"Between those countries in which the collision is actual, the danger of unbalanced press comment is very largely, though far from entirely, mitigated," says an exchange. "It is in the relations of the belligerent countries to the neutrals, and of the neutrals to one another and to the belligerents, that the danger is most evident at the present time. To a large extent the neutral countries are the smaller countries, whose criticisms do not greatly affect the belligerents.

"In the case of the United States this safety valve does not exist. The United States, as one of the great powers of the world, is in a very different position to the Scandinavian monarchies or to the monarchies of the near East. The trend of public opinion, of course, cannot be controlled. Men will to express their opinions, and as they continue to think. These opinions, however, are regarded as purely private, and not as committing the country in any way to a definite policy. It is quite different when a statement appears which has a gloss of inspiration, even if this gloss should have been deliberately or ignorantly injected in the press. It is just through such press action that public opinion has often been manipulated in the past. The European press, for instance, has been manipulated in a certain section of the European press as the 'reptile press,' meaning a press which could be manipulated for particular ends; and the world has seen evidence of this, much more recently, in the efforts made by the Armour Barons, in concert sometimes even with governmental departments, to impregnate public opinion with a belief in and fear of the aggression of other countries.

"In these circumstances, it will be realized, how essential it is that the government of the United States should be supported by the loyalty of the entire press in its efforts to deal equally loyally with the belligerent and neutral governments. Not only is the president of the United States entitled to this loyalty, but it is a first requisite of the country's security. The carrying on of political negotiations is always a prolonged and tedious business. The temptation to the press, when it learns half truths, to take advantage of this, to create a momentary sensation, is always severe, and the severity grows in proportion to the apparent legitimacy of the occasion. What, however, is much more to be regretted, is the tendency to anticipate political news of extreme complexity and incalculable gravity by indulging in forecasts, which have no greater warrant than fertile editorial resource. A very bad instance of this, and one which must have been very embarrassing to President Wilson, occurred some months ago, when the terms of a note to the British government were given under headlines which would not have disgraced the placards of a traveling circus, and with a sensational exaggeration which veiled truth as completely as a Delphic oracle. If the province of the press was merely to stir up trouble with other countries, such methods would be entirely satisfactory. The only effect, however, is to light a diplomatic conflagration which it falls to the head of the government ultimately to put out. Bishop Aterbury's chaplain stated, on a certain occasion, that the bishop went first with a torch and that he always had to follow with the bucket. There has been more than one instance in the history of the United States, when the press has gone first with the torch, and the president has been compelled to follow with the bucket.

"At the present moment there is extreme necessity for not adding to the difficulties of the White House. Belligerent powers are not so easy to argue with as powers at peace. An impression of their existence is at stake, and that their existence is engaged in war, has destroyed the element of caution which weighs with them in times of peace. The habit therefore of making forecasts of notes to other powers, and spreading through the press of other powers an impression of the government's policy, which is at once hopelessly inaccurate and entirely unauthorized, can serve no useful end, and may easily be a source of tremendous impression of the government's policy does not, even, completely nullify its efforts. As the negotiations, emanating from the White House, are shrouded in secrecy and guarded with the utmost jealousy, it is obvious that they can only be known through dishonesty or indiscretion, and that the evidence of these should in neither case be taken advantage of. If, on the other hand, forecasts are based on nothing better than intelligent speculation, the action is certainly more honored in the breach than in the observance. The most restrained organ of the press may, in some instance, prove to be misinformed. Organs, however, which habitually indulge in the manufacture of news which is not news, might be placed on the Mideast's memorable list of those that never would be missed."

Help the Stomach Digest Your Food

When the stomach fails to digest and distribute that which is eaten, the bowels become clogged with a mass of waste and refuse that ferments and generates poisons that are gradually forced into the blood, causing distress and often serious illness.

Most people naturally object to the drastic cathartic and purgative agents that shock the system. A mild, gentle laxative, positive in its effect and that will quickly relieve constipation is Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, sold by druggists at fifty cents and one dollar a bottle. It does not gripe or cramp, but acts easily and pleasantly and is therefore the most satisfactory remedy for children, women and elderly persons. For a free trial bottle write to Dr. W. B. When fellows come around and start to criticize you and findin' fault concernin' you and all the things you do; When they suggest improvements and point out where you are lame; And try to give you pointers on your own particular game; Don't stop to argue with 'em, for your cue is to stand pat; Jes' do the best that you kin do and let it go at that.

When folks come round and tell you that you're too big for your town; That you should strike out to a place where you kin win renown; When they inform you you're a chump for workin' at your wage; That you're not where you should be for a man who's reached your age; And when they try to swell your head so you can't wear your hat; Just keep your nut and peg away and let it go at that.

FARMERS GET FACTS ON LATEST METHODS

RURAL CITIZENS OF COUNTY GATHER HERE TODAY TO HEAR AGRICULTURAL EXPERTS.

BETTER FARM PROFITS

Methods for Securing Best That Soil and Stock Can Give Discussed in Sessions.

The prizes awarded in Rock county for the best three farm managers went to the following men: First prize, $12, E. L. Benedict, Clinton; second prize, $8, W. M. King; third prize, $6, W. J. Ward, Avalon. The Ward farm was managed by H. L. Ward.

Those winners above mentioned will represent Rock county at the state farm management contest, to be held at Port Atkinson the first week in June. They will also be entered as competitors for the state prizes.

Rock county farmers and their wives, interested in a higher state of farm efficiency, management and profit, were in attendance today at the Farm Management meeting fostered by the agricultural department of the university and conducted under the auspices of the Janesville Commercial club at the Y. M. C. A. building. Many prominent and well-known country citizens of Rock county were present to accumulate knowledge from a wealth of interesting information and statistics on one hundred percent farming.

Addresses with demonstrations were given throughout the day. Dr. H. O. Otis, professor of agriculture and assistant dean of the college of agriculture at Madison, was the morning speaker. Prof. Otis addressed the farmers on the management of the farm in general and took exceedingly well with his audience. He clearly showed the results of income per cow, horse, etc. The average income per animal in the county and state was then discussed, following which the ten best and the ten poorest counties were considered.

Prof. Otis brought the farmers face to face with the business results of their farms and following this made a comparison of Rock county farms with those of the state. Locally the average is good, but it was also found that there is much room for advancement.

He was particularly emphatic in his advice regarding the raising of a few acres of the county's average, compared with the business results of the state, which also constituted a represented average, was found to be very low, so much in fact, that the speaker urged the growing of this particular crop.

Prof. Otis used large charts during his address. To show the relative figures of Rock county farms compared with the ten best and the ten poorest farms, respectively, of the entire state.

At noon dinner was served in the large banquet hall at the association building.

The session this afternoon, was opened by J. A. Craik, president of the Janesville Commercial club. Mr. Craik welcomed the university men and their wives who were with them, also the farmers and their wives. He was of the opinion that the meeting would eventually be of much interest to the farmers and help them materially in the raising of the standard of efficiency on their farms. The Janesville Commercial club, he said, was extending every effort to secure better results for not only the county, but for the entire county. No better way was to be had than to consider the agricultural feature to reach this goal. The Commercial club, Mr. Craik said, was ready to cooperate with the farmers at all times, for in the progress and success of each rested the progress and success of the other. Mr. H. Dougherty was then introduced and made a formal address of welcome.

W. J. Dougan of Beloit, Rock county, well known and successful farm proprietor and manager, responded to Mr. Dougan's address of welcome. Mr. Dougan touched somewhat on the success he had met in systematizing not only work, but practically every other feature that enters into farm management. His response was brief, but he expressed the view that with the hearty co-operation of the Commercial club of Janesville the status of Rock county farmers could be improved materially with one working hand in hand and in harmony with the other.

Richard Overton, a member of the county board, also spoke and was received with farm applause.

H. D. Watrud of the university agricultural college and also United States farm demonstrator and manager for Wisconsin spoke next. His topic was "Efficiency Factors of the Farm." He showed the effects of the sizes of various farms and explained how with proper management and the use of the land, a farmer could bring adequate returns. The effect of the number of cows on a farm was also considered as was the effect of capital in farm management.

Mr. Gunn also of the agricultural college at Madison, considered the factors that capital is to be considered with his topic was "Making Good on the Investment." Mr. Gunn gave numerous examples of actual results obtained through proper management and at the same time showed that access to proper funds was impossible. Prof. Otis spoke again during the afternoon, this time considering "Simple Methods of Keeping Farm Accounts." He showed the effects of improper bookkeeping passed on to the next generation and to encourage a system of bookkeeping passed on to the next generation, a large number of account books in which a farmer can easily keep all records and at the end of a year's time know just where his profits and losses have been. As the books require no posting or transferring are a simple matter to keep in shape.

While their husbands were listening to the speakers, the wives were highly interested in the discussions of Miss Beth Bailey of the high school domestic science and Miss Kelly of the university on farm cooking.

FOND DULAC CHAMPS LOSE TO CARDINALS

JANESVILLE TEAM TAKES MEASURE OF COMPANY E FIVE IN HARD GAME.

WIN THE STATE TITLE

Victory Score of 32 to 12 Gives Lakotas Clear Claim to State Championship of City Basketball Teams.

By playing a perfect system of "break and cover," the Lakota Cardinals won the state championship from the noted Company E team of Fond du Lac in a stellar exhibition of advanced basketball at the Auditorium Saturday night, by the score of 32 to 12. The score is no way indicative of the closeness of the game, for although the Lakotas were never threatened, the Company E five made it interesting during the forty minutes of play.

The Cardinals went into the game with a carefully planned system to beat the visitors by having four men down the floor to cover quick dribbling, and then having Edler and Dalton guarding the goal to prevent shooting. The Fond du Lac five lost because they could not get near the basket or could they cage any of their long shots. The Lakotas were ready for Fogarty and the famed star was "cut-up" in every sense of the term by Edler, who scored three goals and held the chubby star to a lone goal made in the first half. Instead of trying to follow this streak, the Cardinals played a policy of watchful waiting and covered only when he threatened to score.

Guarding Is Close.

The system Fond du Lac plays is to take three men down with the ball and then pass it backwards unaided by the rival guards are drawn away from the goal, leaving the forward a chance to shoot down and receive a pass under the goal. It did not work, however, and the defense was almost perfect in the last half, when the soldiers only failed one goal—and a lucky one at that. While Fogarty was outplayed, he showed wonderful basketball ability, having the custom style of "doppy and slow" dribbling, but is quicker than a bullet when it comes to dodging and slipping past a guard. Thompson, star man of Lawrence college, was outplayed by Hemming by one basket and the lanky college man was taught a few points about the dribbling game by Dalton, on basket shooting by Korst and Atwood, and on teamwork by Hemming.

None of the Lakotas starred individually, but all outplayed their opponents. Korst showed up better shooting of goals netted him four baskets over Young, who went scoreless. Atwood played his usual standard of game, being in all the team play and when going down the floor, Hemming scored three goals and was always back on the defense to watch Thompson and gave Fogarty a good rub in dribbling. Twice he dribbled the entire length of the floor, and scored when Korst and Atwood drew the Fond du Lac guards away from the goal, leaving a clear field. The Lakota center outplayed Thompson every tip-off and gave the local five a clear advantage in team and lateral work, with Edler down to receive the ball under the goal, while Fogarty watched him race down the court in mystery at his speed.

First Half.
The Cardinals won the game in the first five minutes of play when Edler came down the floor like a shot and went through Young and Fogarty by bailing dodging and counted the first two goals of the game. Young and Lundgren guarded the Lakota forwards close and the defense men done the scoring in this session. The forwards would draw the guards to the sidelines and draw an opening for Hemming or Edler to dribble and by short bounding passes they obtained easy shots, which were not missed. Thompson scored his two markers this half while Hemming was taking care of Fogarty.

The greater part of the passing was done in the center of the floor and at times the Fond du Lac team looked like a winner when they passed the ball without opposition, but they got within scoring distance—it was bing! and Janesville had the ket. High school passing tricks did not put the scores on the sheet. The half stood 16 to 8 in the Lakotas favor.

Second Half.
In the second half the Lakota defense was improved to such an extent that Young was the only man to score for the visitors and it was a rare occurrence when the northern champs got a shot at the goal. Atwood romped away from Lundgren and dropped three pretty side shots through the net. Korst scored the best goal of the game in his second basket when Young was pushing him outside of the court and the wily Cardinal slipped from his grasp and shot the ball through while falling forward from the force of the blow. Dalton came down from Fitzergerd and dropped a long shot and Fogarty was lost handling or rather trying to handle the ball. Korst scored the lone goal for the defeated team in this half and scored two fouls out of three chances.

BASEBALL MANAGER MUST BE BOSS OR HE WILL BE FAILURE, SAYS EVERS.

Johnny Evers maintains that a manager of a baseball club must be the real boss of the team or he cannot hope to be successful. Johnny, it will be remembered, had his own troubles with Charles W. Murphy.

"No matter how great a general a manager may be," says Evers, "if he is interfered with he cannot succeed. He must be the boss of the team. Just as soon as the president of a club interferes in this branch of the service just so soon is his club doomed to fail. I do not necessarily mean by this that a manager should be permitted to trade and sell his players without consulting his employers, but I do mean that he should be permitted to run the playing end of the game."

"I never realized how hampered by interference a manager could be until I was made manager of the Cubs. I am not offering this as an alibi or an excuse for the showing the Cubs made under my management, but I never again will accept the position as manager of a club unless I am going to have absolute charge of the playing end of the game."

MEET ASSOCIATION BOWLERS TONIGHT

Dorrbacher's Bowlers of Beloit to Play Match at "Y" Tonight.—To Hold Track Meet Friday.

Associate Secretary R. C. Mackenzie of the Y. M. C. A. has arranged a special week of activity at the building due largely to the fact that all children are out of school this week. Tonight a big bowling match, in which the public is invited to witness, will be staged between the Y. M. C. A. first quint, captained by Albert Huebel, and the Beloit bowlers.

The Beloit bowlers will come tonight captained by Dorrbacher, the renowned bowler of that city. The match will be entertained by a good deal of enthusiasm and is not doubted. The Y. M. C. A. five claim the championship of the city and are out after the title of both cities.

Tuesday there will be a swimming carnival for junior boys. In the morning the A. U. boys will use the tank, with the B. U. boys having full sway in the afternoon.

Wednesday the gymnasium will be opened to any basketball or other teams who wish to use it for practice. Thursday there will be various contests held all day in the gymnasium. Thursday night the usual Bible class will meet at six o'clock.

Friday there will be held an indoor track meet, the details of which will be announced later.

BELOIT HIGHS DEFEAT EVANSVILLE SATURDAY AND GO TO STATE MEET

Beloit highs won from Evansville highs Saturday afternoon at Madison by a score of 24 to 21, in an elimination game to the state meet. As a result, Beloit will represent the southern section along with Burlington at Appleton on Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week.

Beloit won from Evansville in the last five minutes, when Evansville led by seven points. Ross and Dame, two freshmen, were put in and these two players contributed the winning field goals. The game resembled the Beloit-Janesville game of a week ago, as Beloit trimmed the locals in the last three minutes with Ross and Dame.

Mike Kelley, recently named boss of the St. Paul club, will recruit practically an entirely new team from three National League clubs. The Green Bay club has played home and away matches with the St. Paul team and it is expected that a good sized delegation of players, including the players, will attend the tournament in Milwaukee, which should prove most interesting.

Albert Schaller has been appointed chairman of the Greens committee of the club and plans for several innovations for the coming season. The present hazards, it is understood, will be put in shape and other conveniences and inconveniences for the players will be installed as the season progresses. Mr. Schaller has had experience in the line of handling conditions, and it is to be expected that the present season will be one that will mark a new era in goldom on the local links.

Edward Baumann is again chairman of the game committee. Of course he plans for the local series of plays for the various cups, but also is increasing the interest in the games that are to be played. Of course, the state golf will mark the opening, whenever it is held, and then will come the various cup series.

Just when the opening is to come has not yet been decided. The directors are considering a plan for a general smoker as soon as the weather permits. To this will be invited a number of non-golfers. They will be given an opportunity of playing around the course with some members of the club to show just what the game means. They will be initiated into the mysteries of the golf club. Then will come a series of upper followed by a program. This is only a tentative plan but it is meeting with general approval of the members and will probably be carried out.

The Sinissippi Golf club is one of the best equipped in the state. It has one of the best courses and at present there are sixty active playing members as well as many others who do not play but enjoy the privileges of the club. It is planned to increase the membership materially in the next few months and as soon as the citizens generally understand the real benefits to be derived from the club, which are manifold, they will join.

The only question that is apparent to the men who play every day is to convince the public and this they plan to do in the immediate future.

Bob Burton, Louis Disbrow and Earl Cooper will clash in a fifty-mile auto race April 4 at Los Angeles to which one is world's "Speed King."

Lynn Scroggins of Texas is getting his second try-out with the Chicago White Sox. In his first trial in 1912 he spent six days with the Sox and was sent to Lincoln. He pitched all last season with Lincoln, winning nineteen and losing thirteen. His club finished fifth.

GOLFERS WAIT WORD TO START SEASON AT THE GOLF LINKS

Cold Weather Has Delayed Preliminary Season Games—Plans for the Summer.

Janesville golfers are anxiously awaiting suitable weather for the opening of their season's play. Thus far it has been too cold, too raw and too soft for good golf and although some of the enthusiasts have visited the clubhouse, played a few holes, have concluded to wait for more favorable weather. Of course there are those enthusiasts who will play if there is ground enough to find the ball on, but the average player waits for the spring weather, the warm summer days and need for out-of-door exercise.

There is no game that has taken hold of the American people in the past few years as golf. Doctors prescribe it, the dyspeptic and the thin afflicted all find relief and enjoyment from following the little ball around the course. It is the relaxation for the busy man and the pleasure of the man who has nothing to do in vacation periods. Perhaps nowhere in the United States is a course as excellent as the one at the Sinissippi Links. The rolling course of the land, the natural hazards, the overhanging cliffs, the broad porches all make it an ideal place for an afternoon for both ladies and gentlemen. There has always been a handicap that there was no direct means of communication with the club at a moderate cost. This year the board of directors think they have solved the problem by making arrangements with Robert Bugas for a conveyance service to and from the grounds at a moderate figure at all hours. It is a moderate figure at all hours. It is a moderate figure at all hours. It is a moderate figure at all hours.

According to the agreement Mr. Bugas agrees to furnish a conveyance telephone call at ten cents for each person one way. That is ten cents and ten back. Four can be accommodated at one time. Should the party consist of five, or even six, it will be twenty cents for each additional person for one way. Of course this can be divided pro rata, if it is all one party, otherwise the expense falls on the extra persons.

The auto will come as far as Myers hotel corner, east or will pick up passengers on the way out as desired. This should stimulate attendance to or from the grounds and have been hindered for years. The facilities and inures a goodly number of members present each day, particularly on club days. The arrangement with the golf club is that each trip costs ten cents for each person, so the passenger gains by the arrangement. The auto will stop for two or for one, if they pay two trans. It will stop for twenty cents. It will run on any scheduled time but on phone call, and this should prove most acceptable and convenient for businessmen who might be delayed by an auto.

One event that the local golfers are particularly interested in this year is the state tournament to be played on the week of July 26th at the Green Bay county club, Milwaukee. The Green Bay club has played home and away matches with the Sinissippi team and it is expected that a good sized delegation of players, including the players, will attend the tournament in Milwaukee, which should prove most interesting.

Sport Snap Shots MORRIS MILLER

Pitcher Arthur Clarkson, the Milwaukee semi-pro who went south with the New York Yankees, became discouraged and quit camp, believing he had no chance to make good. He packed his goods and departed without saying goodbye to any one. No the kind of a disposition that will make good anywhere.

Folks who ridicule the plan of Hans Wagner to play first base for the Pirates this year can find a parallel to his case in the person of Hughie Jennings. Hughie was about the best shortstop of his time when in the heyday of his glory with the old Baltimore Orioles. When he himself slipped a bit and unable to cover quite as much ground as formerly or with his old skill, he decided to try it at first base. He was almost as much of a success there. Wagner, of course, is older than Jennings was then, but it must be remembered that Jennings, though a star of great magnitude, was never a Hans Wagner.

Thomas Lee Walsh, more familiarly known as "Doc" Walsh, who is making a third attempt to become a regular with the Chicago Cubs, is a son of the famous "Old Father Time" hit man before "Old Father" baseball career comes to a termination. The ambition that Doc Walsh has to be granted is a chance behind the bat. He wants to take a crack at the maskman job, and when he does he will have worked in every position on a ball team from outfielder all the way in.

First base appears to be the real jinx on the Tiger ball club. In the fifteen years that Detroit has been in the American League the Tigers have had six first basemen, regulars, that is, they were in order, Frank Dillon, Chris Lindley, Deud Rossman, Tom Jones, Doc Gainer, George Burns. Tom Jones was always in hot water, the club management, having a man after his job and working him hardest to land it. Rossman was chased to the bushes when Ira Thomas discovered that Rossman had a glass arm, and Gainer was always in the line of fire, and now George Burns has been operated on for appendicitis. Can you beat that for hard luck?

If Jack Roche's arm comes back the Cardinals are going to turn out another sensational catcher. "One of the best young catchers in the National League." Within the past few seasons the Cards have carried off the honors in introducing Wingo and Frank Snyder. Two years ago they hailed Wingo the peer of all the recruits behind the plate. Then last spring we had Snyder, and the Cardinals were so good that he showed they were pushing the Georgian into the ranks of the second-string catchers.

Every other one of the host of White Sox recruits for the place having fallen down, Bobby Roth, a year an outfielder with the Kansas City Cowboys, is to be given a chance to show that he's a third baseman. He is now working out at that station with the White Sox first squad. Ever since Harry Lord's sudden retirement, the third base problem has been the bane of the White Sox. It is a half a dozen recruits this year, but none has the combination of good fielding and stick work necessary to make good.

Otto Hess joined the Cleveland Naps the same year that Nap Lajoie did and yet prolonged his baseball bobber to such an extent that he became a member of a big league pennant winner. He is so old that he is still in the line of play for Nap Lajoie, who goes back to the Athletics after a career of nineteen years that have been pennantless. In fact the outlook for Larry helping to win a pennant this year is far better than it was for Hess a year ago.

Wahno Ketonen, the Finn who recently won the world's heavyweight wrestling championship from Mike Yokel of Salt Lake City, is receiving challenges right and left. Ketonen, now located at Duluth, Minn., has agreed to a match against C. E. Michelson of Hill City, Wis., an old foe.

The Cards certainly have a huskier trio of catchers than any club in baseball. Frank Snyder (tips the beam at 195 and Harry Glenn weighs in at the same figure. Jack Roche is the baby among the receivers.

Milton Reed, the former Philly shortstop, says "he" jumped the Feds because Charley Dooin broke his nose one day last season in a more or less playful scrap in the clubhouse. But Dooin had been let out by the Phillies before Reed jumped, the excuse is hardly logical.

Charley Mullen of the Yankees is unfortunate. He had the fight of his life to beat out Walter Pipp for the first base job under the most favorable conditions, and now he is laid up with a sore shoulder, that is bound to handicap him in the competition.

"Ready?" politely queried the bus driver as the Cincinnati baseball athletes were embarking for the depot. And Mr. C. Dooin, stepping forward in a somewhat emphatic manner, said "he" of this club, but to hackmen and strangers, I'd have you distinctly understand, I am Mr. Dooin!"

CARUSO

World-famous Tenor, says:

"Tuxedo completely satisfies my tobacco taste. It is mild and has a delicious flavor. Most important of all, from a singer's standpoint, Tuxedo does not irritate my throat."

Caruso

"Tuxedo Does Not Irritate My Throat"

The non-irritating quality of Tuxedo which Caruso praises is due to the original "Tuxedo Process" by which the tobacco is treated. This process refines the tobacco and absolutely removes all bite and sting.

Many thousands of men think they cannot smoke a pipe, for fear the tobacco might burn or parch their mouths. Tuxedo has done away with any such possibility. You can smoke Tuxedo all day long, without any irritation whatsoever—indeed, with increasing pleasure.

Tuxedo

The Perfect Tobacco for Pipe and Cigarette

is made from rich, mild, fragrant Kentucky Burley—acknowledged to be the finest pipe tobacco in the world—aged until it is pipe-perfect and smokes coolly and slowly.

You cut off an inch of inspiration and real joy every hour you stay away from Tuxedo. Because it's so good, so true, so delicious, so fragrant, its memory lingers every time your smoke-appetite gets tuned up.
